One CLE Student's Story

After Dan enrolled in CLE and we saw what he could accomplish in the program, we knew it was an excellent opportunity.

CLE helped Dan by providing intensive tutoring, independent living skills instruction and lots of individual attention. The program appealed to him because it provides a college experience in an environment where he felt like he belonged. CLE appealed to us as parents because it encourages his independence and encourages his academic and personal growth.

CLE was exactly what our family needed to keep Dan moving forward toward his goals and ours.

Experience Independence.

All families want their children to become happy and self-sufficient. Young adults with learning and emotional disabilities can achieve these goals with their own perseverance and a strong network of support provided by College Living Experience.

College Living Experience is a post-secondary program for students who require additional assistance to attend college and become more independent adults. Some College Living Experience students have autism spectrum disorders, including Asperger's Syndrome. Some have conditions such as dyslexia and ADHD/ADD; others have social and emotional maturation issues. They all receive the support they need to continue their education after high school and prepare for life after college.

Six Locations. Endless Possibilities.

Students travel from all over the world to attend one of six College Living Experience locations. They attend universities, community colleges and technical and vocational schools to earn degrees that reflect their interests, abilities and aspirations. They develop the well-rounded interpersonal skills required to have successful social interactions and they master the skills needed to live independently.

Students who haven't completed high school can earn an accredited diploma at College Living Experience. At some locations, they can earn high school and college credits at the same time. The possibilities are endless.

CLE programs are located in: Austin, Texas; Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Chicago; Monterey, Calif.; Denver and Washington, D.C.

Live Independently. Achieve Academically. Engage Socially.

Only College Living Experience offers a complete network of comprehensive services. The ongoing support of resident advisors, tutors, mentors, psychologists, academic liaisons, site directors and peers helps students become more self-sufficient, more independent and more confident. CLE students develop the study skills that help them learn better and learn more. And they receive the support they need to make – and be – a friend. The result – students are empowered to advocate for themselves, they are prepared to make daily life decisions and they develop rewarding and appropriate relationships with fellow students and adults.

CLE students gain confidence, establish friendships, obtain an education, prepare for a career and experience independence.
